

Nadja Alexander is an award winning author and educator (2011, 2007, 1997) and a conflict intervention professional. She holds professorial appointments Australia and the United States and has taught mediation at universities and in corporate settings all over the world.

Nadja is an independent adviser on mediation policy to national governments and international bodies, such as the World Bank Group. She has been engaged in the field of conflict resolution in more than 30 countries and is a sought-after commentator on the international circuit.

Nadja is a board member and a director of the Singapore International Mediation Institute and sits on the international mediation panels of Singapore, Hong Kong and Australia. In 2016 she is excited to be joining the Singapore International Dispute Resolution Academy.